ABOUT CENTRE

The Centre for Nanoscience and Nanotechnology was established in January 2006 to accomplish the goal of enhancing advanced research in the areas of Nanoscience and Nanotechnology. The centre is a joint initiative of Indira Gandhi Centre for Atomic Research (IGCAR), Govt. of India and Sathyabama University. The leading area of research includes nanomaterials, nanotechnology, nanocomposites, nanoelectronics, nanofabrication.

FEATURES OF NAMEE-2012

- A comprehensive and diverse program – keynote addresses, plenary sessions, elective sessions
- An impressive lineup of expert speakers
- Optional post-conference workshop (6th & 7th September)
- Proceedings with ISBN number

CONFERENCE THEMES

- Nano-materials
- Nano-energy
- Nanoparticles and Applications
- Thin film coatings and Applications
- Nano-Biotechnology
- Nano-Medicine
- Nano-Food
- Green Technologies & Applications
- Micro and Nano Fabrication
- Bionano Materials and Tissues
- Biosensors and Diagnostics
- Biomarkers and Nanoparticles
- Drug Delivery and Therapeutics
- Polymer Nanotechnology
- Carbon Nano structures and devices
- Environmental application
- Composites and Interfaces
